

The Spirit of Park City Continues to Shine Bright

By Betsy Lucas

As we all try to adjust to life under these unprecedented circumstances, we recognize that our community is facing challenges that we have never experienced before. It's easy to feel discouraged and overwhelmed when so many people are struggling in different ways. But Park City residents continue to inspire me as they continually find ways to help others in our community, financially and otherwise.

Jenn Lewis, co-owner of LGD Construction and a member of the Park City Area Home Builders Association (PCAHBA), a nonprofit organization serving Park City and surrounding areas, is regularly involved with various Park City non-profit organizations of importance to her and those she loves. She frequently donates her time and talents to the Peace House and Swaner Nature Preserve amongst others.

Earlier this year, I reached out to Jenn with a question regarding a potential building project needed by local non-profit Fetch Cares, whose mission is to provide comfort and care for Park City area residents and animals with exceptional needs. Although the intention of my call was merely to gather information, Jenn, a philanthropist in the truest sense, immediately took ownership of the necessary project. "Leave it to me," Jenn modestly said, "I will get Fetch Cares what they need."

Shortly after our conversation, life came to an unexpected halt. With everything going on and more pressing concerns to distract us all, I wrongly assumed the project placed on hold. Imagine my surprise and immense appreciation when I received a text from PJ Saylor, founder of Fetch Cares, with a picture of the build complete only weeks later.

Our town would truly not be the same without people like Jenn at LGD Construction and the many others like her who continue to put others first, despite personally and professionally challenging times.

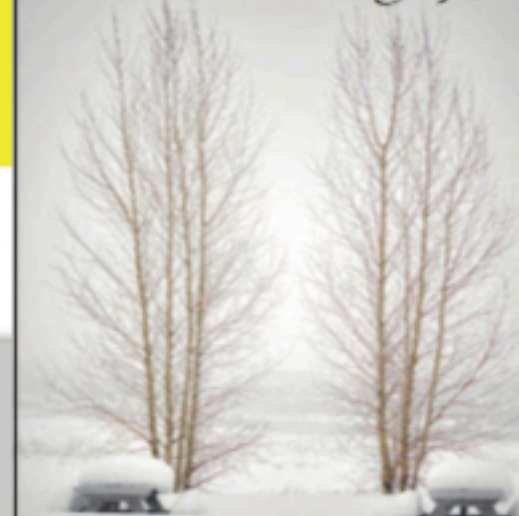

What a great reminder that our town is more than a tourist destination; it's a community.

FROM THE FETCH CARES SOCIAL MEDIA ACCOUNTS:

Fetch Cares is feeling very thankful! A team of wonderful, good-hearted people built Fetch Cares a ramp to make it easier for our special needs and senior pups to get in and out of the yard space. We and the dogs owe a huge THANK YOU to Jenn at LGD Construction for organizing, Aaron and his team at Modern Design + Build for building, Steve at Sunpro Building Products for donating the materials and Betsy at Neighbors of Park City magazine for introducing us! We could not be more grateful to have had this experience! On behalf of Fetch Cares, we love you all! #localsupport #fetchcares #501c3 #forthedogs

Healing Through Connection

Fetch Cares, a private, non-profit 501(c)(3) in Kamas, Utah, is Utah's first animal hospice (foster facility + hospice). Our mission is to provide opportunity and care for people and animals with exceptional needs. We believe the human/animal connection can ease both physical and emotional pain, provide support through life's challenges, and remind us all that we have more similarities than differences.
